COOPER TALKS ON PRINCIPLE

TELLS COLLEGE GRADUATES WHAT RELIGION EXPECTS.

AUDIENCE 'LISTENS IN'

Former Maryville Minister Stresses Continuance Of Ideals In Sermon Yesterday Morning.

"Religion expects you to go out of college prepared to carry out the principles you have lived for four years," the Rev. Joseph A. Cooper told the graduating class at the State Teachers College yesterday morning in his baccalaureate sermon in the college auditorium. Mr. Cooper talked on "What Religion Expects From the College Graduate."

"Religion does not expect the graduate to come out of school with a perfect understanding of the Bible nor with an exact cognizance of the doctrines of the church," he said. "What you have lived in College has been idealistic to a great extent. You have worked along lines of principle. Religion merely expects you to continue in the carrying out of these principues."

Many Hear Sermon.

The College auditorium was well filled for the first number of the commencement week program for eighty seniors who will receive the baccalaureate degree either Wednesday morning or at the end of the summer quarter.

Three Maryville ministers assisted in the service yesterday morning. The Rev. R. A. Mitchell gave the invocation and benediction, Dr. C. C. James prayed, and the Rev. W. N. Dewar read the Scripture. Mr. Cooper is a former pastor of the First Baptist Church here.

Mr. Cooper spoke particularly to the graduates in his sermon. "The rest of you will pardon me," he said, "if I merely class you as 'listeners in.'

"The power of an ideal is no more important anywhere than in college. Nowhere is it more apparent. I include even the home and the church when I say this.

"You graduates could have done nothing in college unless you had constantly before you the power of a constant objective."

In A Sense Religion.

The speaker said that the idealism of college is in a sense religion. "The things which have meant most to you have been the highest kind of ideals. The folks you have honored most in your four years of college have been those who were not working for themselves but for somebody else."

Mr. Cooper complimented the faculty and administration of the Teachers College. He told of his love for the institution and his personal interest in many of the members of the 1926 graduating class. In speaking of the College teachers, he said: "The faculty is a part of that sacrificial thing we call college life."

He spoke of three phases of college life: Physical, mental, and social, and told of their bearing on later life.

"The only important thing about any game or phase of athletics is whether or not you can take out into the world the ideal of sanctity of the human body.

"The test of four years of mental grilling is not scholarship. It is whether or not you can take out into the world a trained mind.

"The only value of social contact is the value you can express in the world into which you are going."

Mr. Cooper told the test of commencement. "Can you work just as hard to keep your standing as high in later life as you did in school?" was his definition.

Music for the baccalaureate sermon exercises was furnished by the College chorus under the direction of Charles R. Gardner.

Liquor Is Found in St. Joseph Man's Car

Arthur Cronk Is Arrested Near Barnard and Charged With Violation of Prohibition Laws.

Arthur Cronk of St. Joseph was arrested Saturday evening one and one-half miles east of Barnard by Deputy Sheriff John Rasco on a charge of transportation and possession of intoxicating liquor. Cronk was brought to Maryville and turned over to Sheriff Lowell Campbell and is still in jail.

Cronk had in his car at the time of his arrest a 2-gallon jug of liquor and a 2-gallon empty jug. The officers believe the contents in this jug had been sold. Cronk was one of the bondsmen for two men, Spargur and Neal, who were charged with the Stalling store robbery at Barnard a number of months ago.

THE QUEST OF OIL TO BEGIN

DRILLER SETS TOMORROW AS "ZERO HOUR."

GAS MAY BE FOUND

'It Looks Like Real Field,' Says G. H. Rose, In Business Since Age Of 15.

Barring unforseen obstacles, drilling of the Quitman Oil and Gas Company's first oil well will start tomorrow morning.

G. H. Rose, Breckenridge driller who has the contract for the well, announced today that by night everything would be in readiness for the first punch of the drill on Tuesday, unless something unexpected should happen.

The big boom used in the drilling outfit has been erected, and little remained to be done today except the building of a sidewalk, preparation of the bits and a few other minor tasks.

"It looks like a real oil field to me," Rose said. Born in the Pennsylvania oil region, he has been engaged in drilling wells in both proven and unproven territory since he was 15 years old.

"The prospects, however, are even better for gas than for oil," the driller added. He declared gas could be marketed profitably from Quitman.

Rose is assisted by his son, Raymond, and by Eugene Brown and Deloss Buskirk, all of whom he characterized as qualified drillers. Two will work from noon to midnight and the other two from midnight to noon. All four are making their homes in Maryville during the sinking of the well, which is less than ten miles distant.

Afternoon tomorrow the drilling will be continuous except for Sundays.

E. C. Curfman to Take Charge of Closed Bank

Appointed Special Deputy To Liquidate Real Estate Bank Here, Closed Several Days Ago.

Jefferson City, May 24.—E. C. Curfman of Maryville, former lumberman there, was today appointed by the state finance commission a special deputy to liquidate the Real Estate Bank of Maryville, closed several days ago by its own board of directors.

The commission of E. C. Curfman will probably not arrive here until some time tomorrow. As soon as the commission arrives and Mr. Curfman takes the oath required, he will take charge of the bank. This will probably be Wednesday.

R. E. Shelby of Albany, bank examiner who has been here, is about through with the inventory of the bank and is ready to turn over the business to Mr. Curfman. Mr. Shelby expects to remain here a day or two after Mr. Curfman goes in to assist him in the work.

Mr. Curfman was in the lumber business for about twenty-five years, having sold out here just about a year ago. The appointment of Mr. Curfman will be well received and will be pleasing news to the depositors of that institution.

Arkoe Votes $2,000 School Bond Issue

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie G. Somerville and sons, Earl, William and Junior, were guests yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Livengood of Elmo.

DEATH TAKES EDW. W. KECK

WELL KNOWN MARYVILLE CITIZEN DIES THIS MORNING.

ILL SEVERAL MONTHS

In Maryville Since 1891, He Was Active in Masonic, Elks and Civic Affairs.—Funeral Not Arranged.

Edward W. Keck, one of the best known of Maryville citizens, died at 7:40 o'clock this morning at St. Francis hospital after a seven months illness of chronic ulceration of the stomach. Mr. Keck was taken to the hospital about four weeks ago and had been sinking rapidly the last three weeks. He was active in business until about three months ago.

Definite arrangements for the funeral will not be made until relatives are heard from. The services will be held at the Presbyterian Church of this city, of which Mr. Keck was a member, with burial at the Oak Hill cemetery. The family requests that flowers be omitted.

Mr. Keck was born June 12, 1871, at Rushville, Ind. He came to Maryville in July, 1891, and was employed in the tailor shop of Alex McPhail. In August, 1897, Mr. Keck and P. H. Dietz formed a partnership and had since continued in the tailoring business here. Mr. Dietz located in Maryville in 1890, just a few months before Mr. Keck came here.

Mr. Keck was married on January 3, 1900, to Miss Clare English. Her death occurred in October, 1901. A daughter, Janet Elizabeth, is now living at Los Angeles, Cal. On January 17, 1914, Mr. Keck married Miss Maud McCluskey of this city, who survives. Two sisters and two brothers also survive. They are Mrs. John L. Ritze of Maryville; Mrs. W. A. Green of Rushville, Ind.; William Keck, Rushville, Ind.; and Lewis J. Keck, Indianapolis, Ind.

William Keck arrived here Saturday when his brother's illness had become critical, and will remain until after the funeral. Mr. Keck's other brother was here a few weeks ago and will be unable to attend the funeral on account of sickness in his family. Mrs. Green also will be unable to come on account of sickness in her family.

Mr. Keck was very active as a member of the various Masonic bodies of Maryville and the Elks lodge. He was a member of Nodaway Lodge No. 470, A. F. & A. M.; Owens Chapter No. 96, R. A. M.; and Maryville Commandery No. 40, Knights Templar. In Owens Chapter he had occupied many of the chairs and had served as High Priest. In the Commandery, he had been Eminent Commander. He had also been exalted ruler of the Elks.

When the Maryville Country Club was organized a few years ago, Mr. Keck became an enthusiastic golfer and was a member of the building committee which had charge of the Country Club building.

In civic affairs Mr. Keck also was active having served as a member of the board of directors of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce.

Warden Unable to Get to Records of Prison

Combinations On Vaults And Safes At Joliet Prison Changed While Whitman Is Absent.

Joliet, Ill., May 24.—John L. Whitman, warden of the Joliet penitentiary, returned to the prison today after testifying before the Cook County grand jury to find all records of the institution locked from him.

In his absence, according to reports, the combinations on all safes and vaults at the prison here and at Statesville were changed and the warden is unable to get to them.

This action, according to those in well-informed circles, is the first step in the plans for the removal of the warden after what was termed an expose of the mal-administration of the Joliet prison was begun last week.

Governor Small, whose name has been drawn into reports of the operations of an alleged pardon mill, has been extended an invitation to appear before the Will County grand jury.

Mrs. George Pat Wright, who has been at a hospital in St. Joseph, was able to be brought home yesterday. Mr. Wright went to St. Joseph after her. Her condition is satisfactory.

Dr. Fryer Back From Psychiatric Clinic

County Health Officer Studies Mental Hygiene in St. Louis Municipal Courts Building.

Dr. C. P. Fryer, county health officer, returned to Maryville Saturday night from St. Louis where he has been doing intensified work in mental hygiene. Dr. Fryer attended a psychiartric clinic held in the Municipal Courts building in St. Louis. At this clinic, cases from the juvenile court were studied.

Dr. Fryer said today that much of that which was studied in St. Louis can be applied to cases in Nodaway County and that steps will be taken along lines of mental hygiene.

Massachusetts was the pioneer state in mental hygiene and Missouri is now second in the Union.

Trucks, Garage and Tools Are Destroyed

Fire At Harry Harrison's Building Saturday Night Causes Estimated Loss Of $3,500.

Four trucks, a garage and some farm tools, owned by Harry Harrison, were destroyed by a fire of unknown origin at the Harrison garage, just east of the Burlington station, about 7 o'clock Saturday night. Although the cause of the fire is not known, it is thought it was started from a short circuit in the wiring on one of the trucks, which had just been put in the building a few minutes before the blaze was discovered.

The fence at the stockyards also caught fire but this blaze was soon extinguished.

Mr. Harrison estimates his loss at about $3,500, part of which is covered by insurance.

DIPLOMAS TO RURAL GRADS

13 BOYS, 12 GIRLS OF POLK TOWNSHIP AT EXERCISES HERE.

HIGH SCHOOL IS URGED

L. L. St. Clair Compares Schools Of Today With Generation Ago—M. H. S. Students On Program.

Thirteen boys and twelve girls from rural schools of Polk township this afternoon received their diplomas and congratulations upon having completed the eighth grade but were cautioned that their education had been only begun.

After pointing out the increased advantages possessed by the boys and girls of today over the boys and girls of a generation ago, L. L. St. Clair, principal of the Maryville High School, the principal speaker, set forth reasons for continuing through the four years of high school.

"If you are in reach of Maryville, come to Maryville High School," Mr. St. Clair urged. "If not, be sure to go somewhere."

The principal compared the rural school of today with that of a generation ago: its equipment, the course of study, the system of grading, and the difference in the qualifications of teachers and the salaries paid them. He emphasized, however, that even the improved rural schools of the present day give the puplis ony the fundamentals for a successful life and asserted that high school would pay a cash return in addition to preparation for better serving the community.

"He is greatest in his community who best serves his community," Mr. St. Clair said. He closed with the following poem by Edgar Guest:

THE JOB.

"Take this, my boy, and remember it long,
Though now it may strike you as funny.
A job with a chance to improve and advance—
Is better than one that pays money.

"Take a hint from an old man who's traveled the way,
Just heed to his counsel a minute:
There's a job that may pay you five dollars a day—
But that's all there will ever be in it.

"Don't look at the cash as so many boys do,
Take a look at the long years before you;
See how much you can learn, not how much you can earn—
And the place which the future has for you.

"Can you rise from the post where they'd have you begin?
How far will this humble job take you?
These are questions to ask. They pay well for the task—
But what sort of a man will it make you?

"Oh, many a boy has begun with a rush,
And has grabbed for a man's wages blindly;
Now he sticks as a man at the spot he began—
And thinks life has used him unkindly.

"So look for a job with a future ahead,
Seek a chance to grow greater and greater.
Seek a place where you know as you work you will grow—
And the money will come to you later."

Music was given by the Maryville High School orchestra, a reading by Doris Wallace, a piano solo by Gertrude Wray, a talk by Donald Goforth, a xylophone solo by Carl Leroy Fisher and a violin solo by Harold Braun.

The diplomas were presented by Leslie G. Somerville, county superintendent of schools.

To Investigate Story of Beating by Teacher

Kansas City Boy Charges Schoolteacher Whipped Him Because He Couldn't Solve Problem.

Kansas City, May 24.—An investigation will be begun here into charges made by James Chrisman, 9, that Miss Mary Hickman, a school teacher, beat him with a broom stick because he could not tell her how many four's there are in thirty-two. The boy is in bed with one leg in a cast, suffering from bruises, he says.

ALL EYES NOW ON BROOKHART

HIS VICTORY WOULD BE BIG BLOW TO REPUBLICANS.

DEFEATED THUS FAR

Administration Senators Turned Down By Voters In Most Cases—Democratic Chieftains Take Heart.

Washington, May 24.—Something very much akin to hysteria prevailed in the capital today among the Republicans in Congress, as a result of continued defeats of administration supporters at the polls.

Sixty per cent of the Republican Senators, backed by the administration, who have faced the voters in primary elections have been rejected thus far and this is only May, with the bulk of the primaries still ahead to say nothing of the November election.

The cry now is "every man for himself."

The Republicans turned a fearful gaze on the Iowa primary today, two weeks hence, when Albert B. Cummins, veteran administration Senator, seeks renomination, with Coolidge support, over Smith W. Brookhart, the ousted insurgent. If Brookhart wins, they feel it will sound the virtual death knell to the Republican hopes of maintaining control of the Senate. Indeed, it would provoke a fear that the next Congress may even go Democratic.

Quick to sense the Republicans' discouragement, Democratic chieftains planned an early opening of the Senate's slush fund investigation of primary expenditures, particularly in Iowa.

Airplanes Now Search for McPherson's Body

Expensive Method of Hunting Marks Beginning of End of Long Search—Parachute Jumper Ready.

Los Angeles, May 24.—Hunting for a little black speck floating on the bosom of the ocean, three airplanes shot seaward from Clover Field today in a search for the body of Aimee Semple McPherson, believed to have arisen from the bottom of the sea and to be drifting slowly toward the short.

Police detectives and officers of the Angelus temple, of which the internationaly-known evangelist was pastor, declared that the expensive air search marked the beginning of the final and most important part of the long search for Mrs. McPherson's body.

Strapped to their seats in each of the three searching planes were a pilot and observer, equipped with a pair of powerful marine glasses with which to scan the waters. A few hundred feet below, in one of the planes, rode Al Johnson, parachute jumper, who was prepared to make a leap into the sea if the body is found and remain behind until helpers come to the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Wilkerson and sons, Ray and Virgil, of Savannah spent yesterday with Mrs. Wilkerson's mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Howland, and family.

Misses Irene and Dorothy Babb returned last night from Kansas City where they spent the week with Miss Alta Argo.

ENFORCEMENT PLAN WAVERS

GOVERNMENT BACKTRACKING, EVIDENCE SHOWS.

"TO BE USED RARELY"

Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews Admits Temporary Dry Commissions Will Be Used Carefully.

Washington, May 24.—Evidence that the federal government is beginning to backtrack on its ambitious plan to put federal prohibition badges on thousands of state, county and municipal officers was forthcoming from the treasury department today.

In the face of widespread condemnation by the wets and drys alike in Congress and elsewhere, General Lincoln C. Andrews, prohibition enforcement chief, admitted today that the authority to enlist local officers, contained in President Coolidge's far-reaching order "will be used rarely and carefully through temporary commissions, revokable at any time."

Washington, May 24.—The federal government, it was reliably reported today, is going to backtrack on its ambitious project of giving federal prohibition badges to thousands of county and municipal officers, even before the plan is put into actual operation on a national scale.

Aghast at the storm of controversy which has been kicked up by President Coolidge's drastic executive order and the serious concern over the fact that some of the country's leading legal authorities have denounced it as unconstitutional, prohibition authorities, it was learned today, have prepared to abandon their original undertaking.

There probably will be no formal announcement of the government's retreat in the matter. Rather, it was said, the experiment will not be allowed to get outside the borders of California, where it has received its baptism, and it probably will be confined to this district, rather than killed outright.

Holds Administrator Cannot Act for Living

When Surviving Parties of Accident Fail To Act, Others Cannot Sue, Court Holds.

Jefferson City, May 24.—A new holding in the Missouri laws relating to personal injuries was made this morning by the Supreme Court, division No. 1, in accepting an opinion written by commissioner Alfred N. Seddon of Kansas City.

The new ruling came in the suit of Louis Betz, public administrator of Jackson County against the Kansas City Southern Railway Co., for compensation for the death of Mrs. Jenny Banker, who, with her husband, was killed by one of the defendant company's trains.

A verdict for $5,000 damages was given in the lower courts. This was reversed outright and the case dismissed in Seddon's opinion in which he held that the administrator of an estate cannot sue in wrongful death cases when the surviving parties fail to take advantage of their rights. This the court held to be the case in this instance, although Mrs. Banker's husband lived less than four hours after the accident.

An inquiry will be made concerning Circuit Attorney Sidiner's handling of the case.

ACCIDENTS WON'T HAPPEN.

Modern activity in behalf of safety is disproving the old saying "Accidents will happen." There is a growing conviction that accidents won't happen unless they are caused by ignorance, carelessness or neglect of some known means of prevention.

Wherever mechanical appliances are necessary to effect safety, they should be installed as rapidly as possible. But even with the most complete systems for safety, a human element nearly always is involved. Consistent and persistent education and training are needed to reduce this element to its lowest possible state. Habits of carefulness are sometimes hard to develop but they are rarely impossible.

Seventeen men escaping from the Missouri penal farm in seventeen days would seem to be exceeding the speed limit. The fact is there is a lot of foolishness now days in the care and confinement of criminals. The few who are sent to prison are sent for punishment and not for entertainment. It is fine to try to build up and reform these men so they may become better citizens when they get out, but most of them now get out with only a part of their terms served and with the full conviction that the whole thing is a big joke. The large majority hardly light on free soil until they are mixed up in a new "job." Over in Illinois the "trusties" took a state owned automobile not long ago from one of the state's numerous "farms," it is said, went out and robbed a bank and returned to the farm to divide the spoils and continued to remain there. That is reform with a vengeance.

Wants Equal Share in Making of Laws

Women's Party Would Also Aid In Administration—Fears No Violence In Campaign.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Washington—"An equal share with men in the making and administration of the laws of this country."

That's what the National Woman's Party wants.

Mabel Vernon, its executive secretary, says so, and says it with an emphasis that, if you're one of the henpecked sex, makes you shiver a little.

Some of the National Woman's Party's recent literature, as they hand it out mimeographically for public consumption, has been so darned resolute, to say the least, that finally I paid my respects—and a lot of 'em—at party headquarters, opposite the capitol, explained that I was in favor of giving women all the rights they wanted and ventured the hope that this would count in my favor if they started anything.

At this the membership laughed and told me they weren't going to start anything violent, but here's what they added: "Woman's struggle for genuine equality is entering a phase which promises to be very exciting."

Not so blamed reassuring, to my mind. I'm glad I did my best to square myself.

When women were given the ballot I had an idea they were going to be satisfied, but it seems not.

In the first place, they are a lot of laws which discriminate between men and women, nominally for the women's protection, but really, according to the National Woman's Party, to handicap them and give men an advantage.

In the second place, though women can vote, the National Woman's Party makes the point that they're expected to vote mostly for men. They're tired of mere "bouquets, honary titles and minor parts," as Miss Vernon expresses it.

Local Teams Defeated in Baseball Yesterday

Merchants Lose to Bedford, 15 to 0; And St. Mary's Nine Defeated by Burlington Junction, 18 to 3.

The Maryville Merchants baseball team and the St. Mary's team, both playing away from home yesterday, were defeated in one-sided games. The Merchants, with too much green material which gave poor support, were shut out in a 15-0 game at Bedford, and the St. Mary's team was defeated 18 to 3. The St. Mary's nine showed a woeful lack of practice but at the same time considerable ability. Joe Thompson, pitcher, was knocked out of the box in the first inning.

CAR ACCIDENTS FATAL TO 19

CONFLICT WITH TRAINS RESPONSIBLE FOR 13.

ALL OVER WEEK-END

Trolley and Motor Car Smashes Result in Two Deaths—Road Accidents Cause Others.

At least nineteen persons met their death in automobile accidents throughout the country over the week-end. The ever-present conflict between automobiles and trains accounted for thirteen of the victims.

Trolley and motor car smashes resulted in two deaths and road accidents brought the toll to nineteen.

Accidents in which group deaths figured predominated.

Six were killed at Flint, Mich., two mothers and their four children, in a train and auto collision. Four persons, two married couples, were killed at North Tonawanda, N. Y., in an auto and train collision.

At Cairo, Ill., three were killed when an auto crashed into a train, and at Albany, N. Y., two persons, both actors, were killed in an automobile and train collision. One woman was killed at Riverhead, N. Y. when the automobile in which she was riding struck a fence and plunged down an embankment.

Five were killed in the state of Kansas in automobile and train collisions.

The week-end death list was coincident with a New York state report, issued today, which showed that auto collisions caused 157 deaths and injuries to 4,000 persons in New York last month.

Markets Hogs at St. Joseph.

The Nodaway Valley Cattle Co. had two loads of Nodaway County hogs on Saturday's livestock market at St. Joseph. Another Nodaway County market visitor was Will Anderson of Bedison.

FARM GLIMPSES

BY BILLY TILSON.

Fred Robinett, southeast of Barnard, was visiting in the city Saturday. Fred says farmers in his locality are nearly all finished planting corn but quite a few have places in their fields that will have to be replanted. He says warm weather is needed to stop the insects from working overtime.

Reports from all over the county show that a large acreage of corn is and will be replanted. It seems that those that planted early have been more lucky in getting a stand. The "pesky" wireworm is doing the most of the damage in digging down to the corn. They find that the grain has sprouted but that one and two of those insects are working at the heart of the seed. The ever-working mole is playing havoc in some fields and as one farmer put it, are running the rows on "high speed."

Alfred Jones, southwest of Maryville has a fine load of steers in his feed lot and a dandy bunch of big Chester-white hogs that he is feeding. Alfred raises a load or two of those kind every year and the prevailing prices keep a continual smile on his face.

William Turner, southwest of Barnard, is feeding a bunch of fine calves and a fine bunch of hogs that will soon be ready for the market. He reports his corn is coming up and will have a fair stand. He thinks the weather will settle down and everything that grows in the ground will begin shooting up and the farmer will have to keep busy.

E. H. Bainum, east of Skidmore, has the finest field of corn that we have seen this year. He has forty acres about cultivated over. Ernest planted early, getting a good stand. He has a fine flock of spring lambs and a nice bunch of hogs on the farm.

A. O. Force and Ed Cole, southeast of Skidmore, were working their corn last Friday and Saturday. They report a very fair stand but find the insects and moles working on it in places.

Charles Rusnoggle, Otho Nichelson, Henry Westfall and George Baulker have had to replant some of their corn. They report a good many having to plant some over, part on account of the seed, and wireworms and moles doing some damage.

George Baulker, southeast of Skidmore, brought in a fine bunch of steers a few days ago. He is going to grass them through the summer and feed this winter. The pastures down in that locality are good.

George Drydale, who lives in the south part of the county, was a Maryville visitor Saturday. Mr. Drydale says they are needing a good rain down that way. The last two rains of the county missed them. He says a great many farmers of that vicinity are having to replant some corn not so much on account of the seed as the wireworms which are doing much damage in some fields.

Oliver October

By George Barr McCutcheon

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Oliver October Baxter, Ja., was born on a vile October day. His parents were prominent in the commercial, social and spiritual life of the town of Rumley. His father was proprietor of the hardware store. The night that Oliver October was born a gypsy queen reads his father's fortune and tells him what a wonderful future his son has before him, but after the reading, the gypsy becomes angry and leaves the house in a rage after telling Mr. Baxter that his son will never reach the age of thirty, and he will be hanged for a crime of which he is not guilty.

CHAPTER II.—Ten years elapse and Oliver's father is the owner of a business block in the town. Mrs. Baxter died when Oliver was nearing seven. Josephine Sage, wife of the minister, causes a sensation when she leaves Rumley to go on the stage. She becomes a "star" and later goes to London, where she scores a hit. Her daughter, Jane, and young Oliver become greatly attached to one another. After finishing college, young Oliver accepts a position in Chicago with an engineering company. He goes to China on an important mission for him firm. Upon his return he enlists in the Canadian army.

CHAPTER III

Home From the War.

The war was over. Oliver October Baxter came through without a scratch.

In April, 1919, he sailed from Brest and on the tenth of May arrived in Rumley, discharged from the army, jobless. On the way home he stopped over in Chicago to notify his employers that he would be ready to resume work after a month's much needed rest. He was blandly informed that as soon as anything turned up they would be pleased and happy to take him back into the concern, but at present there wasn't a vacancy in sight.

Being a captain in the army and used to plain speaking, he told the astonished general manager what he thought of him and the whole works besides, and airily went his way.

This time there was no delegation at the station to meet him. His father and Sammy Parr were waiting for him when the train pulled in.

Old Oliver eyed his son narrowly.

"What's this I hear about them not taking you back on your old job?" he demanded. He extended his hand, which young Oliver gripped in both of his.

"Arent you glad to see me back, alive and well, dad?" he cried.

"Of course, I'm glad you're back, sonny—of course, I am. I've been praying for this ever since you went away. But, didn't I say you were a fool for giving up a $7,000 job to go over and mix up in a war that wasn't any of our business?"

"Oh, I'm not down and out, you know, dad," broke in young Oliver. "So, cheer up! I'm not worrying."

"Course you're not worrying," was his father's sour retort. "You've got me to fall back on, with a good home and grub and a darned fine business to drop into when I'm dead and gone."

His son could hardly believe his ears. He was bewildered, hurt.

Sammy gave Oliver a significant look.

As the two young men hurried across the platform with the bags and bundles, he found opportunity to say to the new arrival:

"Your father will be in a good humor in a minute or two. It's just a habit he's fallen into since you've been away. I guess it's that infernal gypsy business. He's as peevish as blazes a good part of the time."

They drove off in Sammy's car while Oliver plied his old friend with questions.

"Where is Jane?" he asked suddenly.

"Jane Sage? Oh, she's around same as ever. Things are a lot easier for Mr. Sage now. I guess maybe you haven't heard about his brother dying out in California and leaving him quite a bit of money. It looks like a pretty serious affair between her and Doc Lansing."

"What's that?" demanded Oliver, startled.

"I guess it's all happened since you went away. Doc's only been practicing here since last summer. Fine feller."

"I don't seem to remember him," said Oliver, dully. "You say she's—er—in love with him?"

"Looks that way," said Sammy, indifferently. "He's dead gone on her, that's sure."

Presently Mr. Baxter cackled. He was in high good humor again.

"Serepty Grimes just can't wait to see you," he declared. "You know she's keeping house for me now."

"Aunt Serepta keeping house for you?"

"Yes. I thought that people would be sure to talk if she came over and lived at my house. But the cussed part of it is, nobody thinks there's anything scandalous about it. There hasn't been a derned bit of talk. What the dickens are you laughing at, Sam?"

"I just ran over a hen," lied Sam promptly.

June was well along before Oliver began seriously to contemplate bringing his self-styled "vacation" to an end. May had been glorious. Even the sinister stretches of Death swamp, across which he looked from the oak-shaded citadel that he would always call home were not so repelling as they had been in days of yore. The world was beautiful.

During the first week he spent many happy, care-free hours with Jane Sage.

One evening, lounging on her porch, he asked her suddenly:

"What sort of a chap is Doc Lansing, Jane?"

She started, and for a moment her eyes were fixed intently on his half-averted face. There was an odd, startled expression in them.

"He is very nice," she answered, and they both fell silent.

An automobile approached along the tree-lined street, coming to a stop at the front gate.

"Hullo!" exclaimed Oliver. "Here comes the gentleman himself."

"Good evening, Jane," said young Lansing as he came up to the steps. "How are you, Captain Baxter? Wonderful night, isn't it?"

"Wonderful," said Oliver, who wasn't thinking at all of the physical aspects of the night.

Twenty minutes later he looked at his wrist-watch, uttered an exclamation, and sprang to his feet.

"I must be going Jane," he said. He took himself off in well-simulated haste. As he strode off down the street he was conscious of an extremely uncomfortable feeling that they were glad to be rid of him. A queer little chill of dismay struck in upon him. For a moment he felt utterly desolate and bewildered. He felt lost. Why, it meant that he and Jane couldn't be playmates or chums any longer.

Four days later Jane met him face to face in the street, and looking straight into his eyes, asked:

"What is the matter, Oliver? What have I done?"

"Done?"

"Don't be stupid. Have I offended you? Why haven't you been up to see me?"

He decided to be quite frank about it. "See here, Jane, we've always been pals. I don't know exactly how things stand with you and Lansing. But, while I'm not a suitor, it's only fair and square of me to keep out of the—"

Her free, joyous laugh interrupted him.

"Oh, you don't know how relieved I am," she cried. "So that's the explanation, is it? You wanted to give me every chance in the world to catch a beau—and to keep him. It's awfully kind of you, Oliver, but it's also very silly. Don't let me find you staying away again!"

And so June drew toward an end with Jane and Oliver back on the old footing—not quite the same as before, owing to the latter's secret conviction that he was playing hob with the doctor's peace of mind.

Oliver's otherwise agreeable and whilom stay in Rumley was marred by his father's increasing despondency and irritation over the fact that he not only was out of a job but apparently was making no effort to obtain one. There were times when the old man's scolding became unbearable, and but for the pleadings of Serepta Grimes and the counsel of Mr. Sage, Oliver would have packed his bags and departed.

"Don't pay any attention to him, Oliver," begged Serepta. "He's cranky that's all. He don't mean what he says. It would break his heart if you were to get mad and go off and leave him."

Harold Crowdes, Clyde Campbell and Oral Watson Are Charged With Joy Riding While Intoxicated.

Harold Crowdes and Clyde Campbell of Elmo and Oral Watson of Blanchard were arrested Sunday night by Deputy Sheriff O. V. Knuckols of Elmo about one mile south of Elmo. The three men were seen operating a car while intoxicated, the first report having reached Sheriff Campbell from northwest of Maryville. They finally were traced to Elmo.

At the time Kunckols made the arrests, the youths were asleep in the Watson car. About ten feet away from the car and in the grass was found a half pint bottle of liquor and a case of bottles.

The three were brought to Maryville by Knuckols and were turned over to Sheriff Campbell. An information will be made out later today by Prosecuting Attorney Wright.

Complaints had been made to Sheriff Campbell that the men were weaving around the road without any lights and it is surprising that no accident took place.

Boy Receives Mashed Foot Crossing Train

W. E. Goforth Issues Warning to Parents To Keep Children Out of Freight Yards.

Arthur Taylor, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor of Maryville, received a badly crushed foot about 2 o'clock this afternoon when he was caught between two freight cars while attempting to cross a train in the Burlington yards. Action on the part of a trainman in jerking young Taylor from between the cars likely saved his life.

W. E. Goforth, agent at the Burlington, said parents should keep their children away from the yards at the Burlington and also the Wabash here. He said:

"It is a continued fight on the part of railroad agents, both Burlington and Wabash, to keep children away from the depots and switch yards and the trouble is aggravated since school is out. Parents should forbid their children to loaf around the freight yards as it is extremely dangerous."

One Charged With Tire Theft Attempt

Charged with having attempted to steal an automobile tire, Emery Hindle and Homer Smith, who have been working near Wilcox, were arrested Saturday night by B. F. Dougan, city marshal, and turned over to Sheriff Lowell B. Campbell. Smith was temporarily released Sunday, while Hindle was held.

Hindle is alleged to have taken the clamp and tire covering off the spare tire of a Ford car owned by Byron Price and parked on the south side of the Linville Hotel. Before Hindle could get the tire off, Smith is declared to have given an alarm and Hindle went away without the tire. Later he was picked up by the city marshal.

OZARK REGION REAP HARVEST

STRAWBERRY PICKING NOW ON IN EARNEST.

BIG CROP IS EXPECTED

Indications Are That It Will Be Of Excellent Quality And Perhaps One of Largest.

Kansas City, Mo., May 24.—"Y-m-m! S-s-h-p-p! S-m-m-ack! Gee, Jimmy, wher'd they come from?"

Thus asked the urchin of his playmate as he pressed his nose against a plate glass window, eyeing some big red strawberries.

"Mostly from the Ozarks," replied a friendly matron standing nearby watching the boys' mouths water. And so all eyes of the nation are turned for the next few weeks toward the Ozarks where the picking of the queen of Ozark fruits is under way in earnest.

Indications are that the crop this year will be of the excellent quality and perhaps one of the largest ever grown, according to reports from the berry regions in Missouri and Arkansas, adjacent to the Kansas City Southern and Frisco lines.

Estimated accounts of the berry crop are to the effect that 25,000 men, women and children are now employed in the task of harvesting the strawberry crop in this region, and the growers are expected to net several million dollars. The extended cold weather, aided by the right amount of intermittent sunshine, has been favorable to the 1926 crop, growers report.

More than 225 refrigerator carloads of the berries have been shipped into Kansas City this season since the first Strawberry Special arrived over the Frisco lines here the middle of the month. Frisco officials expect to move more than 2,500 cars before the season closes.

The strawberry growing district along the Kansas City Southern, extending 55 miles between Siloam Springs, Ark., and Neosho, Mo., is expected to produce a crop valued at a million and a half dollars this year, and this section will probably ship 850 car loads.

Golden Rule Policy

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has tested, and found practical, a policy that may seem visionary to people who think of any business organization as a machine.

This policy is the application of the Golden Rule on the large scale of big business.

It is manifested outwardly, in the ever-increasing service of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to the thirty million people of the Middle West, and inwardly, in the helpful attitude of the management towards the employes of the Company.

Concrete illustrations of the internal application of the Golden Rule are the Employes Stock Purchasing Plans.

The first was formulated five years ago and met such enthusiastic response that a second Employes Stock Purchasing Plan is now offered to all members of the organization.

By means of the first plan (which provided that for each $1.00 subscribed by the employes, the Company would contribute 50 cents) the employes made themselves one of the largest stockholding influences in the Company.

The results of the first plan are far-reaching. It has enabled the employe to become a partner in the business, and he has given to his work keener interest and greater effort, knowing that he will participate in every saving he effects.

As a result of this policy, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is remarkable for the compactness and harmony of its working force. And ultimately the general public benefits from the increased efficiency.

This one illustration is a concrete proof that the Golden Rule in business is practical. Theoretically, also, it appears to be a sound business principle.

The individual who forgets his profit in the joy of doing his particular work well, usually enjoys the largest compensation; so in big business the organization that considers the service of the community first makes greater profits in the end.

Such a logical explanation of the practical working of the Golden Rule in business subtracts perhaps from the glory of its unselfishness, but it evidences the plausibility of its everyday application in the world of big business.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) carries the Golden Rule policy further, in its Industrial Relation Plan and in its Annuity Plan, which emphasizes the conviction of the management, that the Golden Rule is a practical business maxim, in harmony with economic laws—and that its benefits accrue directly, to the consuming public in superior quality, low prices and maximum service.

MUCH LIQUOR TO DIPLOMATS

VISITING STATESMEN CONSUME 10,000 GALLONS ANNUALLY.

GUARD IT CAREFULLY

American Citizens Can Take a Drink in Embassy Without Violating the Law.

Washington, May 21. — While the United States is supposedly arid because of prohibition, nearly 10,000 gallons of genuine liquors are consumed annually in Washington by foreign diplomats.

Drinking of intoxicants by the diplomatic corps is "within the law" as the embassy or legation is foreign territory not under American jurisdiction.

Despite the fact that diplomatic liquor is admitted free from tariff, there is no leakage into the hands of bootleggers, prohibition officials stated. The visiting statesmen guard their liquor carefully.

Several embassies here receive from 200 to 300 cases of Scotch whisky annually and in addition several casks of wine. The rum comes from abroad in small lots, 20 to 50 cases at a time.

An American citizen can take a drink in an embassy without violating the Volstead act, as diplomats can treat their friends and guests without federal interference.

French and Italian embassies are said to receive the largest consignments of liquors from their home countries. Some of the smaller legations, however, run close to the embassies in quantity as there is no limit on the amount admitted.

Baltimore, Md., is the port of entry for practically all this liquor. Under the prohibition law railroads or trucking concerns are not allowed to transport even the immune rum. The foreign statesmen have their liquor sent to Baltimore and then send their own automobiles after it.

Making them transport the liquor keeps it in foreign territory continually, officials explained, as otherwise it would legally be contraband.

Independence Forms a Browning Society

Independence, Mo., May 21.—Robert Browning has been revived in Independence.

An organization, known as the Robert Browning Society of Independence was formed here recently in celebration of the poet's birthday.

Eighty-seven charter members were present at the initial meeting who were richly entertained by an entirely Browning program.

The opening lecture of the course was given by Miss Matilda Brown, leader of the society in its study.

What Are You Doing For Your Puny Child?

One Boy Gained 11 Pounds In 7 Weeks And Is Now Strong And Healthy.

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, cod liver oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Gaugh & Evans and all druggists—but be sure and ask for McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for 30 days, and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.—Adv.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, May 24.—Grain prices closed irregular on the Chicago Board of Trade today. Most positions rallied from their early lows on the bullish news that came later in the day, but practically all were lower than Saturday's closed.

Wheat closed irregular. May was fractionally lower; July slightly up and September unchanged. All prices showed a gain from the early dip. This was due to reports of deterioration in Ohio and parts of Kansas as well as the high temperatures in the Northwest, and predictions of a warm wave over the central section of the belt.

Corn closed fractionally lower in all deliveries. It was under pressure early but rallied slightly with wheat.

Oats were practically unchanged after another dull day.

END COMES TO JUDGE H. LAMM

NOTED JURIST DIES AT HOME IN SEDALIA.

PARALYSIS IS FATAL

Former Chief Justice of State Supreme Court Was Past 70 Years Old.

Sedalia, Mo., May 24.—Judge Henry Lamm, former chief justice of the state supreme court, Republican candidate for governor in 1916, veteran lawyer and outstanding citizen, died at his home here at 4 o'clock yesterday morning.

Death followed a fifth stroke of paralysis suffered late Saturday.

Judge Lamm was past 79 years old, born December 3, 1846, near the little village of Burbank, Wayne County, Ohio. His parents were of Dutch extraction, having trekked to Ohio from Pennsylvania with ox teams. He was educated in the common school of Burbank, in the Caanan Academy of Wayne County, then at Western College near Cedar Rapids, Ia., and was graduated from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor in the class of 1869.

After his graduation he located in Sedalia and made his home here the last fifty-seven years.

A School Teacher At First.

Upon arriving at Sedalia, he turned to school teaching for a livelihood, studying law on the side. After a year of that, an elder brother with some local political standing aided him in getting a place as deputy in the Pettis County clerk's office. Within a few months the county clerk resigned and Governor Silas H. Woodson crossed the political line and appointed Lamm to fill the unexpired term.

Two terms as prosecuting attorney of Pettis County concluded the early political career of Judge Lamm, but in later years he was nominated to the seemingly hopeless candidacy on the Republican ticket for judge of the supreme court.

A Republican convention at Jefferson City in 1904 named him for that place, picking the best material available but expecting to lose by sixty thousand.

To the Supreme Bench.

A previous nomination for the same candidacy, by a convention at Joplin in 1902, had turned into defeat at the polls, and the seemingly hoplessness of the race in Democratic Missouri probably had much to do with Judge Lamm's lack of interest in the prospect, evidence of which was the fact that he did not even attend the Jefferson City convention. But he was elected and, in 1912, became chief justice for the remainder of the 10 year term.

His tenure of the supreme bench caused to be injected into the usually dry and prosaic records of that tribunal many a sparkling bit of humor and piece of beautiful philosophy. By members of the Missouri bar, regardless of political beliefs, Judge Lamm was rated as an outstanding figure.

He was admitted to the bar in 1871 and four years later formed a law partnership with P. H. Sangree that existed until Judge Lamm was elected to the supreme bench.

Lost Governorship By Margin.

Probably more outstanding in Judge Lamm's political career than the successful race for the supreme bench was his gubernatorial race in 1916 when he was defeated by F. D. Gardner of St. Louis. To this day Republican leaders declare with conviction that Judge Lamm was defeated only by fraudulent count in the river wards of Kansas City. However, the state legislature, being overwhelmingly Democratic, refused to consider a contest.

Even a closeness of the race was a great tribute to Judge Lamm, the state at that time being considered safely Democratic by a huge margin.

Ludge Lamm declined overtures to accept the gubernatorial nomination again in 1920, throwing his strength to Arthur M. Hyde, who was nominated and elected.

Active In Business World.

Aside from his professional and political activities, Judge Lamm has been connected with business interests of importance. He assisted in organizing the first trust company of the state, called the Missouri Trust Company, and he aided in organizing the Sedalia National Bank.

Judge Lamm was married June 18, 1874, to Miss Grace Adela Rose at East Saginaw, Mich. Six children were born to the marriage, Nettie R., Philip F., George D., Henry, Donald Sangree and Robinson Foster.

Farm Radio School Will Be Conducted

Department Of Agriculture To Confer With Stations In Middle West About Broadcasting.

Washington, May 24.—A farm radio school will be conducted by the department of agriculture next winter. Sam Picaard, chief of the department's radio activities, has left on a tour of the farm belt, where he will visit several thousand farmers and confer with radio stations regarding arrangements for broadcasting the lessons.

Twenty-four short courses, of eight lessons each, are planned to deal with all phases of livestock, poultry and dairy problems. Farmers will use their farms as laboratories and the radio lessons will contain assignments to be tried on the farm.
